

New Managing Director at XimantiX

Tim Rossky takes over leadership at Munich-based eInvoice specialist

Munich – As of 1 July 2021, Tim Rossky will become the new managing director of Ximantix Software GmbH, the German branch office of Cegedim e-business based in Munich. He succeeds Reinhard Wild, who previously successfully managed the company for twelve years.

As the future managing director of Ximantix Software GmbH, Tim Rossky is to work more intensively on consolidating and expanding the excellent market position of the successful company in the SME sector and to sustainably expanding the exchange of documents with public authorities. In addition, Tim Rossky is to drive the development of additional business areas such as the introduction of the successful contract-to-pay solution SY by Cegedim, of the French mother company, on the German key account segment.

“Tim Rossky is the ideal leader to accelerate the transformation of XimantiX and grow our organisation in perfect synergy with the management, product and sales teams of our French headquarters. We look forward to working together, which should accelerate our success and the number of our Franco-German projects”, says Tristan de Foucher, Director of International Activities at Cegedim e-business.

The successful manager is thus the perfect successor to Reinhard Wild, who is thanked for his many years of commitment in building and expanding XimantiX into one of the leading service providers for digital document exchange.

“As the founder and managing director for many years of one of the most successful specialist service providers in the field of document digitisation, I am particularly pleased to be able to hand over the management of XimantiX into such capable, committed and motivated hands. im is exactly the right person for the tasks ahead and I wish him as well as the team continued success and all the best”, says Reinhard Wild.

In order to make the transition as smooth as possible, there will not be a “hard” handover at the Munich elnvoice provider. Rather, Reinhard Wild will be on hand to advise his freshly minted successor as XimantiX boss for a transitional phase of several months before he gradually shifts his focus to personal projects.

“I am very much looking forward to the exciting challenges that lie ahead – and above all to working with such an accomplished and experienced team as I have rarely experienced before”, emphasises the new Managing Director Tim Rossky likewise.
